

Custom Onsite Seminars

Learn from vital face-to-face professional development

Educators need the opportunity to gain essential knowledge and skills in order to get the most from their Renaissance™ solutions. Custom Onsite Seminars provide face-to-face professional development opportunities for educators so they can develop the knowledge they need to support key initiatives in their schools or districts, and more importantly, to help accelerate learning for all students.

Custom Onsite Seminars are built on core standards for professional learning, providing engaging activities for groups of up to 30 individuals for optimal effectiveness.

These seminars are planned in advance with school leadership to:

- Understand the goals of the implementation of their Renaissance Learning™ solution
- Identify the school’s level of background knowledge
- Determine the learning outcomes that best meet the needs of the participating educators

With Custom Onsite Seminars, participants will:

- Learn effective use of Renaissance Learning solutions
- Employ best practices for a deep implementation that impacts student results
- Understand how to utilize data for effective instructional decision making
- Plan instruction based on student needs revealed through assessments and program use
- Monitor student growth to ensure staff development goals are met
