

Improving student outcomes with professional development.

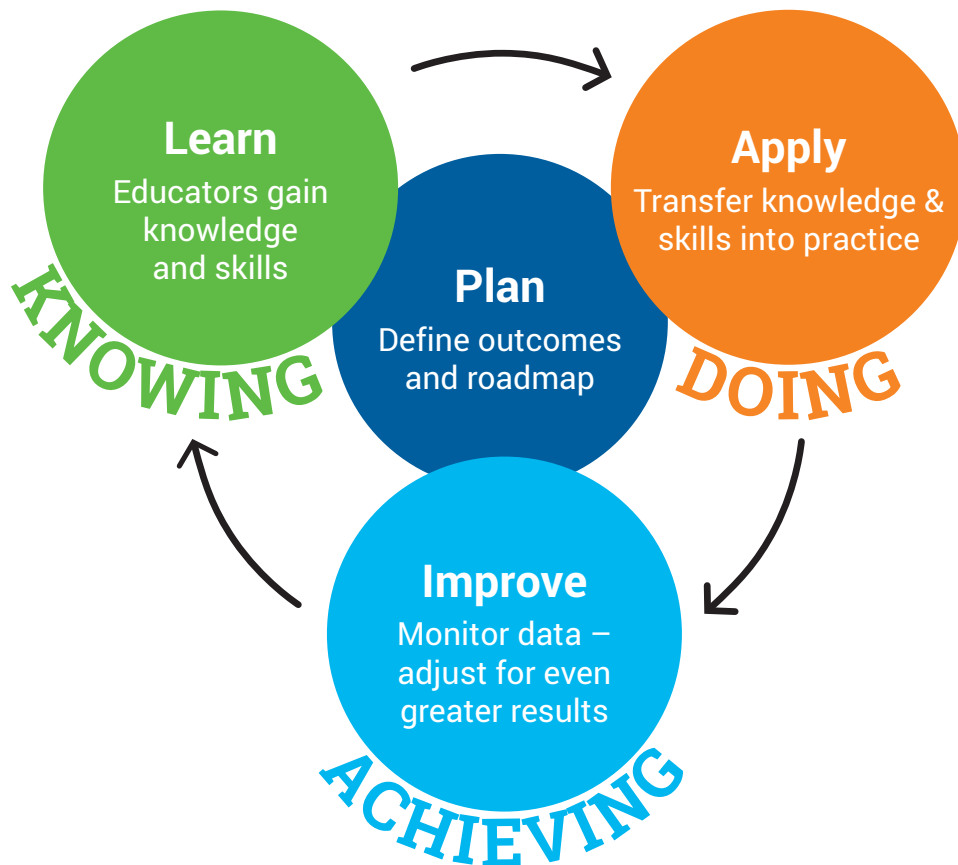

You want your students to be college and career ready.

Let Renaissance professional development help you accomplish that.

In schools where Renaissance solutions are implemented effectively, nearly twice as many students are college and career ready (based on research¹ with nearly 6 million students).

Your effective implementation requires closing the gap between knowing and doing...so you see achievement.

Closing the gap between learning a new strategy and applying it to your classroom practice can lead to greater achievement for your students, as well as your professional learning. All of our services are designed to make it easy for you to support a cycle of knowing, doing, and achieving. Best of all, we center that cycle on a plan. One designed with your outcomes in mind.

Experts who partner with you:
Renaissance Consultants
 have an average of 15 years of practical educational experience.
Renaissance Coaches
 interact with over 2,000 educators each year.
Online learning
"... gives participating teachers opportunities to practice what they learn over relatively extended periods of time ... and provides a level of convenience that conventional professional development does not."
 - Harwell, 2003
